Additionally, who oversees this design committee? I know they're volunteers, but they answer to someone don't they? I don't think they did their duty yesterday. The City sets forth guidelines and codes that development must adhere to. The developer in this case has gone above and beyond-making changes, etc. to not only adhere to City demands, but also community demands.

Yet the design board failed miserably and did not vote to allow them to proceed. The developer may just pull out completely now.

So I'd like to know who oversees the design review committee.

Again, thank you for your time. I look forward to your reply.

Sincerely,
Richard Winsler

>> Yes, you can direct your comments to me. Design related comments (materials, building form, window/balcony locations, landscaping, entries, etc.) are most helpful before and during the EDG and Design Recommendation meeting. Other comments such as traffic, parking, and construction impacts should be sent directly to the prc@seattle.gov with the MUP number (3020338). Those types of comments are most helpful after the MUP application has been submitted and SDCI has the relevant technical studies (traffic, etc.) to review along with the comments. All comments will be considered; comments are used to help inform decisions and on the project and are posted, in their entirety, in our electronic library and are available to everyone reviewing the project.
