As people fortunate enough to own a home in Seattle, we have been shocked and dismayed to see this proposed development attacked. This is the sort of mixed use project that helps increase walkability and housing affordability. We need more rather than fewer places like this to be an affordable, diverse, environmentally friendly and livable city. Please approve it without scaling it down or imposing conditions that work against affordability and jobs right in the neighborhood.

In Madison Valley, our neighborhood, and any neighborhood, both are good things for families and the city.

Thanks for your work and consideration.
