Dear Design Review Board,

I am writing today with a cautious level of support for the new development in our neighborhood at 2925 E Madison Street.

I'm impressed with the level of engagement the developer and architect has engaged within the community and take note of the many positive changes made to the project design throughout this engaging process.

I do hold considerable concern about traffic both on Madison and more importantly on the non arterial routes surrounding the development. I understand these issues will be dealt with in a subsequent EIS; and I look to that process being vigorous and binding to the approval of this development.

I support this project so that it may proceed.
