Photos and text on 6/25/16 from Lisa Dally Wilson who is a hydrologist who lives on N 68th St:

Sink hole opened on 68th between phinney and Dayton. Road conditions are poor due to large spring running subsurface from top of ridge to Greenlake. No soil, open hole at least 8' down (possibly deeper, couldn't see to bottom). SPU will likely fill with concrete tonight. Wish someone would count how many trucks it will take.

Increased traffic is not helping! No projects in the pipeline have hit the road yet, but when they do - watch out. I think we need an organized email/calling campaign to both Dorcey and to SPU. The two depts at the city need to start communicating.
